Weekly Newsletter - 6th March 2020

This week:

World Book Day, as always, has been great with children and staff in their amazing and creative outfits. A huge thanks to Miss Lacy for arranging all the events and also thanks for the help of Mrs. Stubbington for arranging the Scholastic Book fair.

Please do follow your child's class on twitter, where teachers will upload photos of what is happening in class. We are finding that this working well for us and we are currently reviewing the continuation of Marvellous Me.

Coronavirus: I hope that the details that we sent to you help keep you informed in how we continue to educate the children in the school. The staff have been brilliant in making sure that children have a good understanding and also ensure that they answer any questions they may have at an age-appropriate level.

Relationship, Health and Sex Education: Today, I sent across some information on an update regarding where we are with the plans ahead for the implementation of RHSE and the number of consultations that have taken place with parents. Please see the letter sent. Also, you can find this on the school website.
